

Committee on International Programs (CIP) Agenda for February 9, 2023

Approval of the Minutes from 1/19/23 – Sue Tonkonogy

Office of Global Engagement updates – Heidi Hobbs

Review of Faculty Awards (deadline Feb. 15) and CIP Responsibilities:

Outstanding Global Engagement Award

This award encourages and recognizes outstanding accomplishment in globally engaged teaching, student support, research, extension, and/or engagement and economic development by faculty and non-faculty staff professionals at NC State. This is open to all current full-time faculty and non-faculty staff professionals at NC State. Learn more and nominate here.

Jackson Rigney International Service Award

This award is to recognize the distinguished contributions of a faculty or staff member at NC State for the promotion of international understanding and service to the university and/or to the international community over the course of their career. Active and full-time faculty and staff who have been employed by NC State for a minimum of five years at the time of nomination, and who have achieved distinction in international service through their life time work in terms of scholarly activity in teaching, research, and public service shall be eligible for nomination. Learn more and nominate here.

Internationalization Seed Grants

The aim of the Internationalization Seed Grant program is to provide grants that improve the range of international partnerships at NC State and foster meaningful, collaborative, global scholarship and engagement. Proposals are reviewed by the Committee on International Programs (CIP). Strategic and deliberate collaborations that lead to the development of joint research proposals, student mobility programs, courses involving COIL (Collaborative Online International Learning), adjunct appointments and scholarly activities are encouraged. The maximum award, not including cost sharing funds from domestic and international partners, is $5000. Learn more and apply now here.

Presentation on NC State European Center in Prague – Heidi Hobbs

Roundtable – updates from participants