Old Business focused on reporting from and discussion with the Reorientation Subcommittee's work.

- The subcommittee shared an initial draft of a proposal for orientation support for readmitted students. The draft was positively received with suggestions made around:
 - Ownership of the orientation development and execution
 - Assessment of effectiveness
 - Need for additional supporting data to motivate the proposal
- Additional conversation around the process of presenting the proposal/recommendation to the Provost
- Discussion outcomes:
 - The proposal would be expanded and redrafted to address the bullet points above
 - The new draft would be included in the Admission Committee's Annual Report and presented to the Provost
 - The new draft proposal would be developed with a goal of seeing action take place as soon as possible, potentially in time to support students admitted in the fall.

- During the conversation, Charles Cliff shared additional data regarding demographics of suspensions, appeals and readmissions

Election of Committee Chair for 2022-2023

There were two nominees put forth for 2022-2023 Chair: Cathy Crossland and Melissa Merrill. Cathy Crossland withdrew from consideration. The committee unanimously selected Melissa Merrill as chair for the upcoming academic year.

Suggested topics of conversation for the 2022-2023 academic year included:

- Consistency in reviewing applications
- Consistency in availability of information to students

Links to process/procedure from Katie Cartmell's experience at UNC were discussed with Tamah planning to share those links in a subsequent email

The next meeting was scheduled for April 28, 2022 to continue discussion and potentially review a second draft proposal (as discussed above) submitted by the Reorientation Subcommittee.
